Daniel Dunworth
Director, Learning Experience (LX)

Infusing high energy and passion into every project, Daniel Dunworth is a beacon of inspiration for educators, learners, and professionals worldwide. With two decades of varied experience, including roles as a cosmetology educator, school director, corporate trainer, and currently as the Director of Learning Experience with Pivot Point International, Daniel is a testament to his commitment to cultivating talent in the beauty industry. An advocate for the modernization of learning through technology, Daniel's servant leadership approach has helped thousands embrace innovative education methodologies, driving them to reach their full potential.

DAY #2 Sessions:

Collaborative Coaching – Qualities of a Mindful Coach

Explore what it means to be a Mindful Coach. Experience an innovative, ground-breaking approach that is designed to level-up your leadership effectiveness in any environment. This inciting interactive session is full of engagement to help you understand your level of influence and how connect with those you lead. Cultivate the qualities of a Mindful Coach because the future of our industry starts with you.

Deconstructing the Demo – featuring the Undercut Pixie

Keeping learners engaged is not just a challenge for theory. Learners can quickly “disconnect” during technical demonstrations, leaving them lost and confused on where to start or what to do next. Learn how to keep your learners engaged from start-to-finish in this session while also breaking down how to perform the iconic undercut pixie.
